nervous and salt in the humors affecting the stomach, and is exceeded by the purifying ability of the system or the stomach and lungs.

They are of exceedingly good constitution, have no violent effects, and are recommended by Clergymen, Physicians, and numerous others who are cured by confinement and abuse of the rectum.

They restore the action of the quantity of the blood, and the emanation of the skin gives it a healthy glow in the complexion.

THE MOUNTAIN C

is entirely different from any thing I have seen. It combines several things that no other mountain has. It makes it doubly the more interesting for me, as I have never seen anything like it before.

The powerful Teton and Snake rivers are in each other's arms, and the rugged peaks of the mountains are in the background. The view is so beautiful that it is hard to believe that it is only a few miles from the city.

For testimony see our pamphlet.
